How to fill out the Top 5

The TOP 5 are the 5 most important things people need to know about you.

This could be about your disability, health, behaviour or communication.

You can ask the person who knows you best to help you fill in this part.

These important things could be

If you have a serious medical issue

- What is it?
- What do people need to know about it?

Example

I have life threatening seizures.

If I am having a seizure roll me onto my right side. Call 000.

How to fill out the Top 5

If you have communication barriers, what are the important signs you use to let people know what you need or want?

Example

When I need to go to the toilet I put my finger on the palm of my other hand.

If you are not feeling calm or comfortable are there words or actions that will help you?

- What makes you angry or anxious?
- Is there something that calms you down
 - Music?
 - A quiet place?
 - Or going for a walk?

Example

When I am in pain I get angry and yell at everyone.

Please do not take it personally.

Speak to me in a calm way.

Ask me in a quiet voice if I am in pain.

Feelings and Behaviours Thermometer

Difficult times can affect how we behave.

You might get stressed by things like:

- Loud noises
- A change in plans
- The way someone speaks to you

The Feelings and Behaviours Thermometer helps show people what signs to look for when you are getting angry or frustrated.

You can use it to let people know what keeps you calm or what calms you down.

How to fill in the thermometer

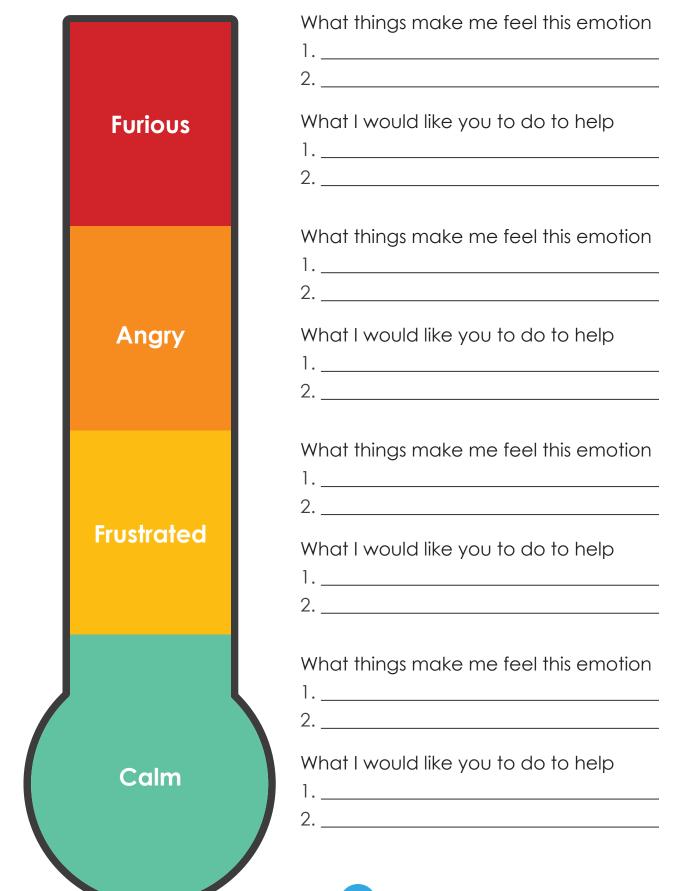

Write 1 or 2 things that make you feel each of the emotions listed on the thermometer.

You might like to write down what things people might see you do when you are feeling that emotion.

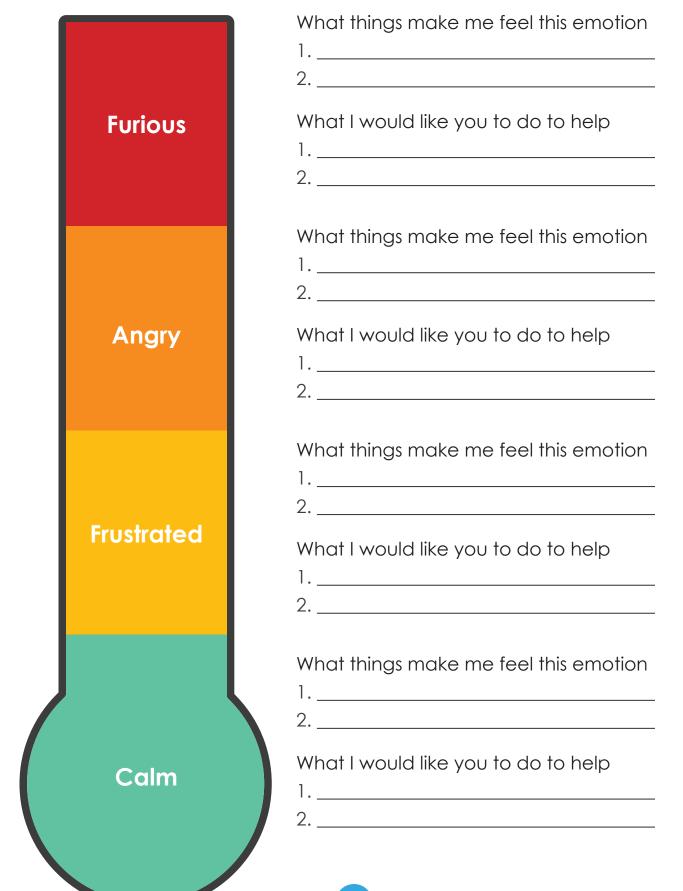

Then write 1 or 2 things that calm you down.

Feelings and Behaviours Thermometer

Here is an example of how to use the scale

Feelings and Behaviours Thermometer

Feelings and emotions

You can use the next 2 pages to show how you feel.

Point to the emotion that you are feeling.

You can use these pages anywhere you like.

For example:

- During a medical appointment
- At home or work

Feelings and emotions

Angry	Annoyed
Confused	Embarrassed
Frustrated	Nervous
Нарру	Worried

Feelings and emotions

Sad	Safe
Scared	Shocked
Shy	Tired
Uncomfortable	Unsafe

What my emotions look like

It is not always easy for people to understand how you feel.

The next page lets you take pictures of yourself when you are feeling emotions you want people to identify.

For example:

- Happy
- Sad
- Annoyed
- Frustrated

Elevator Chart

Dane Waites has given CID to use his Elevator Chart.

This is how Dane uses his chart:

'I use my elevator chart to keep my support workers in the knowing.

I smile on the outside but not always on the inside.

Without me using words they can see how I am feeling by looking at my elevator chart.

When I feel very depressed I put my elevator in the black.
When I am feeling good I move the elevator up to the green.

I'm in control of my elevator chart.

This is good because I don't like using words to talk about my mood.

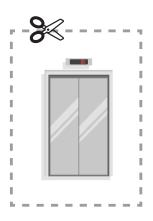

Except when I'm talking to my counsellor and my mum'

Elevator Chart

The Elevator Chart can stay in your folder or you can take it out and put it on the wall.

Cut out the picture of the elevator and use blue tack to stick it on the chart to express your current mood.

The Elevator Chart is for you to show when you are feeling all the kinds of emotions between happy and depressed.

My medical history

You can ask your Doctor to write or print a short list of your medical history. If they print it you can put it in the plastic sleeve at the back of the folder.
